

Trinity, Tex. June 27 1937

Mr. Charlie Reinhardt,
P.O. Box 901,
Mt. Pleasant, Texas.

Dear Charlie:

Herewith sending you the Bill of Costs on the absolutely One sided suit covering the Reinhardt estate, I just received this a little while ago, and told Fred we better send it on to you right away so that you could either pay your part of it, or do with it what you like. But I see nothing else to do but to pay. You see old Reaves says that old Will and Julius have already paid their part of the bill, amounting to $12.40 each, and that in case we don't pay our part, they will just levy on our part of the land, and ofcourse that would just suit those swindlers fine, for then they could buy our part of the land for 12.40 and a few costs.

It is a strange thing to me that the courts are so absolutely HELPLESS when it comes to dealing with a crook, and have such unlimited power when it comes to making an honest man pay.

I am going to send Reaves the $12.40 for Freds part of the costs, but I am going to send him a letter telling him that old Will and Julius owe me $2 500.00 for which I hold their defaulted and worthless notes, which the court was impotent to collect for me, just because I thought they were honest, and waited until the low down cowards could hide behind the statute of limitation before I entered suit to recover on them.

I told Fred to write to you, and send you the Statement and letter from Reaves, but she was so mad when she read it that she said she did not feel like writing.

We got your letter yesterday, which you wrote after you got the telegram, but before you got our letters, which I am sure you have before now. So you already know how they handled the case without any of us being there.

I sure hope that your attorney can bust up that entire division as it was just handled by those crooks and their lawyers, without even asking any of us any thing about it.

Where we made the mistake was that we ever allowed the division suit get mixed up with my suit on the note, for I believe if I would have kept the suit on the note to itself and not got it tangled into the blamed division suit, they would have had to pay off the note before they could have got a division. But the way it is now, The judgement giving me 14 acres of land for the note is not doing me a bit of good, for I don't even know where the blamed land is located, but I do know that I have to keep paying off without knowing if I ever will get a penny out of the blamed mess. And I sometimes wonder if the blamed land is worth the expenses. If it was not for the fact that those blamed crooks would laugh at me for letting them CHEAT me out of still more than they have already done, I would just refuse to put out a cent more on the place. But I am not going to let them swindle me out of any more than they have already done, without making it cost them some more too, and that is why I am glad that Fred is going to stick to you in your fight for a fair division, and nothing would tickle me more than to see old Will and Julius get fooled after thinking that they had gobbled up everything they want.

Am glad you like your work at the Refinery so well, and hope that you can stay with it and make good, for that is the main thing when you get a good job, is to show them that you can be depended on, and that is the reputation you have got, and I hope you keep it.

I notice you seem to be pretty much discouraged, from the note in your last letter, but I hope you keep your head up. Just remember that it is always darkest just before dawn. You got a good job just when it looked like there was nothing at all in sight, and so I hope that we manage to win a complete victory over old Will and Julius just as they are thinking that they have swindled you and Fred out out of about all that is worth having. So I hope that your attorney will be able to bust up that crooked division the way they pulled it, and that it will cost them enough to make them wish they had acted decent about the whole matter in the first place.

Fred is still mad at Chessher, for not holding up for our rights more than he did, but I can not have any hard feelings against him, for I honestly believe he thought it was best to settle the matter before it cost all of us a lot more, and he said he would be willing to testify for us if the case comes up again, for he knows how much they swindled me out of, and that they should have turned the entire place over to Fred and You, if they would have wanted to act at least half way fair, instead of trying to HOG both of you, after swindling me out of all they did.

But they need not think that they have gotten away with it, for I will hold that skeleton against them as long as they live, and I know they can not deny it before their GOD.

Well, it has sure been hot and dry down here, and everything in the garden is about burned up. But since dark it has started to sprinkle, and I hope we get enough of a shower to do a little good.

Fred was looking for another letter from you today, and that is how come me to after the mail late this evening, when I got the dun from Reeves.

Guess Fred will put in a few lines in the morning, and so I will close, hoping that this finds you getting along fine, and that you will have a chance to visit us soon once again.

Best wishes from

Willy