Hon. P. R. Rowe, Attorney,
Livingston, Tex.

Dear Sir, and Friend:-

I am writing you in regard to the estate of Mrs. Reinhardt, of which you know my wife is one of the heirs. And since you have been handling all legal matters in connection with this for our administrator, Mr. J. W. Cobb, you of course are aware of how all of the Reinhardt boys have mistreated my wife, and myself by deliberately defaulting on the honorable obligations of their Parents, and refusing to allow these debts to be paid, as was intended by Mrs. Reinhardt, and further, that Will Reinhardt put in claims against the estate for all expenses which he incurred in connection with the sickness, and burial of both of his parents, whereas my wife waited on them, nursed them at my house, and we paid not only for the medicine, but also nearly all other expenses for them, for the time that they stayed at my house, and for which she never claimed one cent.

I will further state that I hold a note in the amount of $1,000.00 against Julius Reinhardt, and notes in the amount of $1,300.00 against Will Reinhardt, on which no interest has been paid in years, but which they claimed they would pay as soon as they were able to, but which now are run out by limitation, and they have deliberately defaulted, ~~and~~ in payment, and are now hiding behind the statute of limitation in order to keep from paying, in spite of the fact that they always claimed they were honest, and would not think of claiming limitation.

Charlie is the only one who is acting honest about what he owes me, and is ready to renew his notes, which by the way are small, at any time and thus keep them alive.

But now, since Mr. Cobb is wanting to get released from the administration, it appears that Will and Julius are not satisfied with cheating us out of all the money I lent them so they could buy all the property they have, but are now wanting to beat their only sister out of her share in the old Reinhardt home place, even after I have offered to pay them two or three times the appraised value of the land in order to reduce the amount of the debts they owe me. So it seems like there is nothing left for us to do but to ask for a division of the place, and I would like for you to advise me what steps we will have to take, and about what it will cost. Since you have already had some dealings with the matter, Mr. Cobb is of the opinion that you would be better able to handle it for us, and besides would make the charge to somewhat fit our slender purses, for I will frankly admit that I have been swindled out of practically every dollar I had saved during more prosperous times, and am having a hard time trying to make a living. So please let me know how much it would probably cost to have the place appraised, and divided, and also if the expense of doing so could be charged to all interested equally.

Yours very truly
