Mr. C. C. Poole,
Citizens State Bank,
Corrigan, Texas.

Dear Sir, and Friend:-

After talking to you this afternoon, Charlie called me up and asked me to write you in regard to the proposition of dividing the old Reinhardt Homestead. You ofcourse know that Mr. Cobb has given up the Administratorship of the Reinhardt estate, and has put it up to the heirs to get along the best they can with what is left, and I know Charlie told you about our desire to get the Place divided in such a way that he will get the old home in which he is now living, and that Frederica is willing to take as her part the piece of land which is cut off from the rest of the place by the public road, and is agreeable to giving Charlie any additional land she may be entitled to which would be located in the other part of the place. This division will of course give Will and Julius practically all of the bottom fields, and their share should accordingly be reduced account of greater value.

I will further mention that Will and Julius both owe me several thousand dollars each, and are not only refusing to make any payment on the debts, but even refuse to renew their notes, which they claim have run out by limitation, after telling me every time I mentioned the necessity of renewing the notes that this was not necessary because they would pay the debts just like their Father had done in his day, and they will tell you with justifiable pride that Fritz Reinhardt paid off his notes even after they were 11 years past due!!! But now his sons are hiding behind the Statute of limitation, and even refusing to renew their notes.

But, in order to give them a chance to show if they have any desire to still be counted among honest people, I have offered them, on behalf of Frederica, Double the value of their share in the old Reinhardt Homestead if they will deed it to her, and let the amount apply on what they owe me. Further, if they will do this I will let Charlie have half of the bottom fields, or either Will's, or Julius' part at appraised value, and will give him as much time as he wants to pay for it. This offer is still open even after the division, if you can get them to agree to it.

I agree with Charlie in thinking that the place should be divided at once in order that the Taxes can be straightened up, which are 2 years behind now, and I certainly am not going to pay any taxes on any part of the place unless I know that I, or my wife has a clear title to it.

If there is anything you can do to help us out in this matter, in the way Charlie explained it to you, or as outlined above, I will certainly appreciate it, for I have reached the point where I find it useless to try to talk to Will or Julius about this ever since they both deliberately refused to renew their notes.

Hoping that you will be able to help us out in this matter, and thanking you for many past favors I am -

Yours very truly

C. M. Splittstoeser
