Hon. Jas. E. Hill Jr.
Attorney at law,
Livingston, Texas.

Dear Sir:-

I am just in receipt of your favor of Jan. 31st, addressed to Mr. Fred Splettstoesser, which I assume is intended for my wife, Frederica, who is one of the Reinhardt heirs.

I note you speak of the estate of "Their late father who died without leaving a will." But for your information I wish to advise that after his death, my wife took it for granted that the estate would be entirely in the hands of her mother, the same as the estate of my father was, by silent consent, turned over to my mother in its entirety, until after her death, and since then has been placed under my administration without any Court Proceedings, merely by the mutual consent of all of the heirs.

However, Mrs. Reinhardt, knowing her family as she did, realized that they would try to beat my wife out of her share of the estate, and in order to forestall this, had our late lamented Hon. J. Y. Renfro draw up a will for her, and appointed Mr. J. W. Cobb, a long time friend of the family, to act as administrator. She at first asked me to take the administration, but I refused because all of the Reinhardt boys, and also the late Fritz Reinhardt were very much in debt to me, and I did not want to handle the estate because I knew they did not want me to get back any of the money they owed me, and therefore asked her to get some outside party, because I thought I come nearer getting justice in that way. But Mr. P. R. Rowe, who handled the legal details for Mr. Cobb, sent the notes I held against the estate back with the notation that Mrs. Reinhardt was not responsible for them, hence by consent of the Reinhardt boys, my wife was beat of $450.00 dollars of cash which I had lent Mr. Reinhardt, not to mention years of unpaid interest. I have the notes to show, and prove this statement. And I will further say that Julius Reinhardt owes me $1000.00, and Will Reinhardt owes me 1300.00 on which no interest has been paid in years, and which they borrowed from me to buy all the property they have, and on which both have refused to renew their notes claiming that they have run out by limitation. I also have the papers to prove this, and further Mr. J. W. Cobb, and Mr. C. C. Poole can verify this statement.

As regards division of the Reinhardt Home place, will say that I am not taking any particular stock in this, for I feel that it is all that my wife has left from her parents, and therefore have left it entirely up to her as to what she wants to do. And she is willing to have the division made, and has agreed to appraisal by three disinterested parties, and to show that I am more than willing to do what is right, I have agreed to pay Will, and Julius Reinhardt DOUBLE the appraised value for their share of the place, after the division has been made, just to give them a chance to pay off part of the money they owe me.

I wish to further mention that ever since the death of Mrs. Reinhardt my wife and I have made innumerable trips to Corrigan, to confer with Mr. Cobb, and with Mr. Poole in regard to straightening up the estate, and the division of the place, and Mr. Cobb finally got so disgusted with the way Will and Julius acted about the matter, that he asked to be relieved of the administratorship, and thus turned the place over to the heirs to handle as best they could.

Since that time we have been trying, through the good offices of Mr. Poole, to come to some understanding about the division, but so far without any appreciable progress.

I fully agree with you that is not only very expensive, but most likely also entirely unsatisfactory to try to settle such matters in Court, and for that reason would very much prefer to get the division made by mutual agreement, but I certainly will rather see the entire place go for Court costs, rather than give it to Will and Julius, after all they have already ROBBED MY FAMILY of.

So in conclusion will just say that my wife is ready and willing to agree to the division by appraisal and mutual consent just as soon as Will and Julius prove that they are WHITE and are ready to treat her the same way.

I ofcourse know that you have been Julius' Attorney, and have been for a number of years, and probably have given him much good advice in the past, and I will therefore suggest to him that if he wants to get anywhere along the road to success, to please remember that "An honest man's notes do not run out by limitation".

Yours very truly
